CHUCK NOLL

Head Coach

The 1971 season should mark the return to winning football for Steeler Coach Chuck Noll. Record-wise the 39-year old Cleveland native's first two teams as a head coach could not be considered successes.

In spite of the lack of a winning record, there are many indications of Steeler progress as Noll's rebuilding program appears to reach fruition. This has earned him a two-year extension of his original three-year contract and will enable him to continue his ambitious undertaking.

Having the courage of his convictions that winning football teams are built primarily with young players, Noll has constructed the foundation of his team via two outstanding college drafts in 1969 and 1970 which not only brought quality players to Pittsburgh but a large number of them. While it is too early to accurately evaluate the 1971 selections, there is evidence that it, too, is a banner crop.

Through the lean days of a 1-13 first season into the inconsistencies of last year when a 5-9 mark was posted, Noll patiently followed his plan of going mostly with young talented players. Now these first and second year men have acquired the maturity which winning teams need.

Winning is something that has been synonomous with Chuck Noll's football career as a player and an assistant coach. Championships were a reality, not a dream.

In seven years with the Cleveland Browns as a player, Chuck was a member of five of Paul Brown's Eastern Conference winners. Two of these clubs went on to capture NFL crowns.

After retiring prematurely as a player to go into coaching, Noll's first assignment was on Sid Gillman's staff at San Diego in the fledgling American Football League in 1960. His football success continued as the Chargers, with Noll heading the defense, won five division titles in the six seasons he was there and added two AFL championships.

Jumping back to the NFL in 1966, Chuck became a member of Don Shula's staff in Baltimore. With Noll as the defensive backfield coach, the Colts won the NFL crown in 1968 only to lose to the Jets in the Super Bowl.

With Paul Brown, Sid Gillman and Don Shula as his instructors, Chuck was well-prepared when his head coaching opportunity arrived. When he accepted the Steeler post, it was universally agreed in the pro football world that he was a man capable of converting the Steelers into winners.

Going back to his days as a prep star in Cleveland, Chuck has been a man who could handle a difficult task or adjust to any situation. He began his high school career as a running back. When a need developed for a tackle, Chuck made the switch and wound up on the All-State team and a college football scholarship.

At the University of Dayton a similar situation came up. Chuck was playing tackle and there was a need for a linebacker. Once again he made the switch. He became the team captain, an all Ohio choice and was drafted by the Browns in the 21st round of the 1953 pro draft.

Noll began his pro career as an offensive guard and was one of Paul Brown's "messengers." Inevitably, another emergency arose and Chuck completed his playing career as a linebacker.

Now Chuck Noll is in the midst of the greatest challenge of his football career. He is confident that success is near. When it comes, it won't surprise many.

MAX COLEY

Offensive Backfield Coach

A native of Oklahoma who spent all of his football life in the west prior to joining the Steelers, Offensive Backfield Coach Max Coley is in his third year with the team. In his first season with the Steelers, the 44-year old Coley handled the receivers before undertaking his present job in 1970. He now works closely with Chuck Noll and Babe Parilli in designing the overall offensive philosophy of the Steelers. It is a position which requires a bright football mind.

It is the same post he held for ten years at the University of Oregon. While there as Len Casanova's top offensive aide, Max developed an effective machine which annually ranked among the most productive collegiate offensive units in the nation. During his tenure with the Ducks, they averaged better than 300 yards a game and more than three TD's per contest.

Max's coaching career has touched all levels of organized football. He started with a high school job in Tulare, California and also made a three year stop at his alma mater, San Jose State, before moving to Oregon. This preparation and his success made him a likely prospect for a pro coaching assignment.

As a running back, Coley played high school football in Tulsa. A hitch in the service at the tailend of World War II followed. His outstanding college career was split between Northeastern Oklahoma A & M and San Jose State.

Max and his wife Ann have three children.

BOB FRY

Offensive Line Coach

The Steeler running game came alive in 1970 and a big factor in this development was the fine work of the offensive line. The man behind the improvement in the forward wall is Bob Fry, the hard-working Offensive Line Coach. In the 40 years of his life, Bob has spent the greater part of it in football and has never had a job outside of the game. This is his 19th year in the National Football League.

Bob entered coaching via the front office of the Atlanta Falcons. In 1965 he became a scout with the Falcons. The following year he became the Assistant Director of Player Personnel. While in this position, Coach Norb Hecker added him to his staff as an offensive line coach and Bob spent two seasons in this position.

When Chuck Noll took over the Steeler head coaching post in 1969, Fry was named to the same post he held with Atlanta.

As a player, Bob was a premier offensive tackle. He played his college ball under the great Bear Bryant when the present Alabama coach was at Kentucky. In spite of being at 225 pounds one of the lightest offensive lineman in the NFL, Fry combined speed and mobility to become a seven year regular with the Los Angeles Rams. He was one of the original members of the Dallas Cowboys when they joined the NFL in 1960 and completed his playing career in 1964.

Bob and his wife Vonnie have six children, three sons and three daughters.

BABE PARILLI
Quarterback Coach

A newcomer to the Steeler coaching staff is Vito "Babe" Parilli who fills the newly-created post of Quarterback Coach.

After 16 years as a pro quarterback in three leagues, this is Parilli's first full-time coaching job. In the past he has helped at several major colleges during spring drills.

As a first round draft choice, Babe began his pro playing career with Green Bay in 1952, the first of his two stints with the Packers. He played a year at Cleveland where Chuck Noll was a teammate.

In 1959 Parilli was with Ottawa in the Canadian League and then joined Oakland when the AFL was formed the following season. The next seven years he was with Boston and led the Patriots to the Eastern Division title in 1963. The following year he was named the league's MVP.

Babe completed his playing days with the New York Jets in 1969 and 1970. He was one of 19 players to play the entire ten-year period of the AFL's existence.

In his playing career, Parilli ranks 12th among the all-time passing leaders in pro football. He completed 1,552 passes in 3,330 attempts for 22,681 yards and 178 touchdowns. Under Bear Bryant at Kentucky, Parilli became the school's first unanimous All America, achieving the honors in 1950 and 1951. In the College All Star game the following summer, he was named the MVP.

A native of Rochester, Pa, Parilli and his wife Priscilla have one son, Vance, 10.

DAN RADAKOVICH
Defensive Line Coach

Dan Radakovich joins Babe Parilli as Steeler assistants who started their football careers in Western Pennsylvania and have now returned. Dan succeeds the late Walt Hackett as the Defensive Line Coach which also entails tutoring the linebackers. This is his first venture into professional football.

A native of Kennywood, Pa., Dan was a great all-around high school athlete. He captained the football and basketball teams at Duquesne High School in his senior year.

At Penn State he was a standout center and linebacker for three seasons in the mid-fifties. After graduating he joined Rip Engle's staff as a part-time assistant while earning his master's degree in business administration. In 1960 he became a full-time member of the Nittany Lion staff and worked chiefly with the linebackers under Engle and Joe Paterno who became the head coach in 1966. During this period, especially in the Paterno era, the Penn State defenses were among the toughest in the country and Radakovich developed a number of outstanding linebackers, including the Steelers' Jack Ham and the Jets' Dennis Onkotz, both of whom were unanimous All Americas in recent years.

In 1970 Dan accepted the head defensive assistant's job at the University of Cincinnati where Ray Callahan is the head coach.

Dan is 35 years old and is married. He and his wife Nancy have four children, two sons and two daughters.

LOU RIECKE
Strength Coach

When Chuck Noll decided a weight and strength program would be part of the Steeler curriculum, he needed a Strength Coach to direct it. Lou Riecke was the man he selected for this unique position and he is now in his second season.

In this position, it is his responsibility to prescribe and administer individual programs which will collectively increase the strength of the team. Because they are stronger, team members will be less susceptible to injury which provides a secondary benefit to this program.

The 44-year old Riecke's background and experience make him an ideal man for the job. Lou has been active in this field during his entire adult life and possesses the intelligence to institute a program of this nature.

It is always helpful if a teacher can personally demonstrate to his pupils. As a former NCAA weightlifting champion and a national YMCA titleholder who competed in the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo, Lou can still do anything he asks his pupils to do.

From an academic standpoint, Lou is also well-prepared. He attended the LSU medical school for two years after earning his B.S. degree there as a Zoology and Chemistry major.

Lou lettered in track and weightlifting in college. In high school he earned numerals in football and track. Two of his national lifting records still stand.

Lou is a native of New Orleans. He is the father of four daughters.

CHARLEY SUMNER
Defensive Backfield Coach

In the sixties the Steeler defensive secondary was almost always under fire. Since 1969 this area has improved significantly under the guidance of Defensive Backfield Coach Charley Sumner. During this three-season period there has been a 100% turnover of defensive backs. It is a unit that has quality and depth and will get better.

Sumner's contribution to this positive development cannot be underestimated. When he came to Pittsburgh he brought with him a dozen years of pro experience, six as one of the NFL's top defenders and six more as an assistant coach in the AFL.

Charley is a native of Radford, Virginia. He was a great all-around athlete at William & Mary where he was one of the school's all-time top offensive backs.

The Chicago Bears chose him in one of the late rounds of the 1954 draft. He was named the Bears' top rookie that year but went into the Army for two years following his first season. After completing his military service and returning for three more outstanding years with Chicago, Charley played two campaigns with Minnesota before retiring in 1962.

Sumner, who is 40, joined the Oakland Raiders' staff the next season and had a big hand in developing the Oakland secondary into one of the best in pro football. Now he is moving in the same direction with the Steelers.

Charley and his wife Barbara have two sons, Terry, 10, and Colin, 3.

LIONEL TAYLOR

Receiver Coach

One of the most difficult assignments on the Steeler coaching staff in 1970 fell to Receiver Coach Lionel Taylor. In his first season it was his responsibility to facilitate the learning process of a group of receivers who were almost exclusively rookies. His patience, ability to communicate with his pupils and the knowledge one acquires in ten years of pro football enabled him to do an outstanding job.

Like so many athletes, Lionel experienced frustration before success in his pro playing career. A fruitless season with the Chicago Bears in 1959 preceded the formation of the AFL. With Denver he received the opportunity and made the most of it. In five of his first six seasons, he was the top pass receiver in the young league. In 1961 when he caught 100 passes he became the first pro to reach the century mark in a single season.

He caught 567 passes in seven years with Denver and two with Houston and was the AFL's all-time leader. Only Don Maynard has surpassed this mark among players who carried over from the AFL to the present American Conference of the NFL. His 13 receptions in one game and feat of leading the league in receiving five times are also AFL records.

A native of Kansas City, Taylor grew up in West Virginia. He went to college at New Mexico Highlands where he was an All Frontier Conference choice.

Lionel and his wife Lorencita have two daughters, Loretta, 12, and LaVern, 10.

RALPH BERLIN
Trainer

Ralph Berlin is the Steelers' Head Trainer and is in his fourth season with the team. Previously, he had pro training experience with the St. Louis Cardinals of the NFL.

Holder of a Masters' Degree in health and safety and a BS in Physical Education, his extraordinary credentials plus years of experience in the field make him more than qualified for the position he so capably handles.

A former college player whose career was shortened by a knee injury, the 35-year old Berlin spent eight years in the college ranks as a trainer, starting at Iowa State where his playing career ended. Positions at DePauw and Kentucky followed as well as summer work with the Cardinals.

During the off-season, Ralph is active in the Steelers' personnel department, especially immediately prior to and during the annual college draft. He also helps the coaching staff in grading the performances of the veteran players at the completion of each season.

Although he was born in California, Ralph grew up in Philadelphia. He enlisted in the Marine Corps after high school and was discharged three years later as a sergeant.

Ralph and his wife Dee have two youngsters and live in the Pittsburgh suburb of Bethel Park.

TONY PARISI
Equipment Manager

Tony Parisi is the Steelers' Equipment Manager and as such is responsible for the purchasing, care and reconditioning of the team's equipment. This is his seventh season in the job. He came to the Steelers from the Pittsburgh Hornets' hockey team where he spent four years as the head trainer. He is a native Canadian and a former professional hockey player.

JACK HART
Field Manager

In point of service with the Steelers, Field Manager Jack Hart has been with the Steelers longer than anyone except owner Art Rooney. Joining the team as a young boy in 1946, he presently is responsible for the playing field, both at training camp at St. Vincent College and during the season at Three Rivers Stadium. It is also his task to see that all related equipment is available and functional.

STEELER ALUMNI SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

Each year the Steeler Alumni Association awards $500.00 grants to worthy area students who have been accepted to Pittsburgh's seven colleges. Since the beginning of the scholarship program in 1964, 36 grants have been made. The scholastic record of the scholarship winners has been exceptional. All have either graduated or are still attending. The funds for the scholarship program are derived entirely from the annual intra-squad game which is held the Saturday preceding the Steelers' first pre-season game. Of the many NFL teams which have active alumni groups, the Steelers pioneered the scholarship association which other associations have now adopted. Joe Cibulas is the president of the alumni group and Boyd Brumbaugh is the chairman of the scholarship committee.
